GLASS MUSEUM

My visit to Stourbridge Glass Museum

This guide gives me an overview of the Stourbridge Glass Museum.

I am going to visit Stourbridge Glass Museum. This is a photo of Stourbridge Glass Museum.

There are people that will help me when I am in the museum. These people are called volunteers. There are also staff in the museum who can help me.

Volunteers and staff wear an orange lanyard around their necks. The orange lanyards look like this. If somebody is wearing this lanyard it is okay to talk to them and ask them questions.

There is space outside to have a picnic at Stourbridge Glass Museum. I can sit at one of these benches with my adult.

This is a photo of the entrance at Stourbridge Glass Museum, which I will go into. The door will automatically open.

This is Reception where we can buy tickets.

If I have a question when I am at Stourbridge Glass Museum I can talk to the volunteers. It is fine to talk to them.

This is the Gift Shop, inside the Reception area. We can buy souvenirs in the Gift Shop.

The volunteer at the Reception desk will be able to help me inside the gift shop.

There are toilets in the museum. If I go down the right hand side corridor I can see the toilet signs. Both toilets are unisex toilets and one is an accessible toilet with baby changing facilities.

This is the coffee station, where we can buy hot drinks.

I will move between floors using the stairs. There are three different staircases.

This is a picture of the staircase to the first floor gallery.

This is a picture of the staircase to the Activity Room.

This is a picture of the staircase to the Hot Shop.

There is also a ramp to the Hot Shop.

I can also use the lift.

There might be lots of other children at Stourbridge Glass Museum when I visit.

If I don't like the noise, I can tell the adult I came with or a volunteer. They can take me to a quieter room if I would like that. I must not leave the area where the people I came with are. This is so adults know where I am and I am safe.

This is the Activity Room. There might be an activity, craft, dressing up, or demonstrations in the Activity Room. The Volunteers at reception will be able to tell me this.

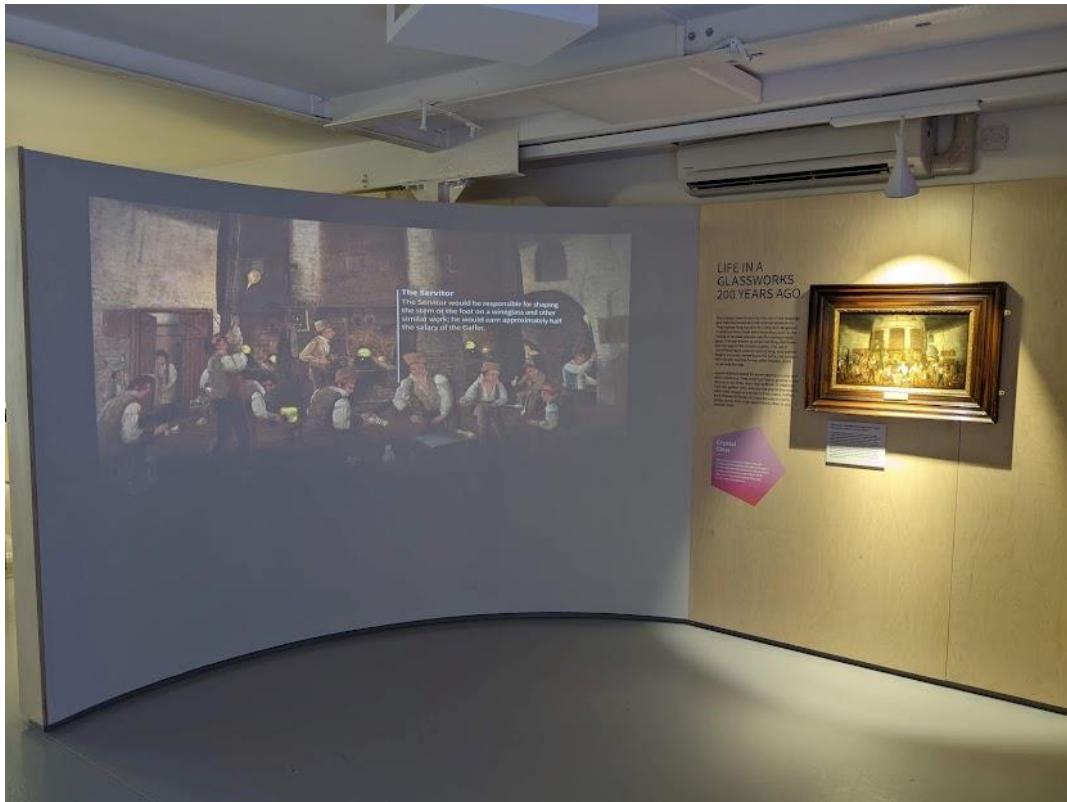

There are some things that I can touch inside Stourbridge Glass Museum, such as these tools.

I can sit on this chair.

If I don't know what I can or can't touch, I can ask a volunteer. I won't get in trouble if I make a mistake but I must try and remember to ask.

These rooms are galleries. A gallery is a collection of art work or objects that all have something in common. There might be a theme to the gallery, or the objects might all be from the same place.

I might also be able to walk around Stourbridge Glass Museum with a volunteer, who can answer any questions I have about the museum.

Sometimes activities, like storytelling happen in the galleries. If I want to take part in these I can.

These are interactives.

There are interactives on the ground floor and first floor in the museum. I can use the interactives to find out more about the objects on display in the museum.

This is the Hot Shop. A Hot Shop is a room where glass is made. Glass is made by Glassmakers. During my visit I might see glass being made. I can ask the Glassmaker questions.

We hope you enjoy your visit to Stourbridge Glass Museum.
